He was drawing a large hand sled, which was loaded to capacity, and when about half way between Olpha Varney's and Bartlett's he turned in on Olpha's wood road and when about one-fourth mile from the country road he connected with a wood pile of enormous size. Here the stranger got busy working up a little wood for a winter's night in the open, with the sky for a shelter, and two feet of short intervals all through the night as they looked from a distance at the first overnight camp fire of the season; the neighbors also heard him cutting up Olpha's wood, though owing to all hands thinking perhaps they were just starting construction of the third class road up through the green woods, all returned to their slumber, and early morning Olpha went down to look over the grounds and reported there were about one-fourth cord of his extra quality wood been used, and it was evident the stranger left the camping ground on a full stomach, as there were empty tin cans and peeling from several baked potatoes.

Old Home and Anniversary Sunday

Services Held at Methodist Church the Second of March—Sermon by Pastor Singleton, Who Has Held Pastorate Here Three Years

Pastor Singleton took for his text the words of Jesus Christ, "I am the light of the world." "I am the light of the world," he said, "and I have appeared unto thee for that purpose, to make thee a minister and a witness, both of these things which thou hast seen, and of those things in the which I will appear unto thee. Delivering thee from the people and from the gentiles unto whom I now send thee."

This was a proud moment for Paul as he stood before Agrippa. I am inclined to think he had revealed in the anticipation of sometime standing before a Roman Potentate and here in the 29th chapter of the Acts of the Apostles we hear King Agrippa speaking, "Thou art permitted to speak for thyself." I repeat, "I am the light of the world." Shall we not begin here and now to strengthen the foundations laid a half century ago?

May we be imbued with the same unquenchable spirit of the pioneer of the church, they dared to attempt and do great things for God, for they believed that their God was a great God and worthy to be praised. We need a deeper spiritual life among the fathers and mothers. Fathers and mothers who know their Bibles as well as they know their bridge and need a message of good will for us. The moving picture, "The Call of Samuel," was shown. Next Sunday there will be a service at the home of W. K. Hamlin.

Several of the ladies met at Mrs. Ida Holden's last Wednesday afternoon. A good bit of sewing was accomplished in preparation for the annual fair, which will take place in the summer.
Mrs. Harriet Brown, who has been sick with a bad cold, is better. First signs of spring, little Reginald Kimball, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kimball, has played his garden under the piazza and planted it to pumpkins and squashes.

The Grange meeting last Saturday was postponed on account of bad weather. There was a devotional service at the Grange Hall, Sunday evening. All members of the staff were present. All were glad to welcome Mr. Bull back. Rev. A. W. Sparks was present as a visitor and had a message of good will for us. The moving picture, "The Call of Samuel," was shown. Next Sunday there will be a service at the home of W. K. Hamlin.

DEMOCRATIC PROPOSED WET PLANK

From the Bridgton News

The Democratic Party, prior to the passage of the 18th amendment, rose to a position of some importance in this state, by its espousal of the proposition to re-submit the state prohibitory constitutional amendment to popular vote. At that time it was a serious threat in this state and elected two chief executives, besides several lesser officers. Some leaders of the party now propose a plank, in its state platform, to be brought before the state convention, which would favor putting the federal government into the liquor business.

The sponsors of this plank argue that this would put the bootlegger out of business, for the reason that the purchaser would be able to buy pure liquor from the government, at cost.

The proposed plank "condemns the legalized saloon and the illicit traffic in intoxicating liquors and favors the manufacture and sale of fermented liquors, light wine and beers by the national government at cost and under strict regulation and control, with all the present laws and penalties against private sale and manufacture continued in force."

Well, that's a "noble experiment" and it will be interesting to see how this proposal will be received by the state convention and if adopted how it will strike the rank and file of the voters of the state.

Maine elects four representatives to Congress and one United States Senator this year, and if by any chance one of these wet candidates should be elected, it would give the Democrats of this state great cheer.

WHEN PHYSICIANS GROPED IN THE DARK

Roland T. Patten, ex-editor and controlling owner of the Independent-Reporter of Skowhegan, and now editor of the Presque Isle Star-Herald prints in the latter paper the following:

"A remarkable surgeon would tell you that he ought to save nine out of every ten of his appendicitis cases. My father, the late Sumner A. Patten of Moulton, a country physician, in the 50 years practice, probably had 500 patients afflicted with that malady. Every one died. That's just about the difference in surgery between the final half of the last century and the years since 1900. There has been an advance quite as striking in diagnosis.

"The physician of my father's day groped in the dark. It was then impossible to see through living tissue nor could those old-time doctors command a variety of electrical currents that would extend their healing influence wherever sent. Doubtless, there are more words to conquer and yet with present facilities, a physician has immeasurably greater opportunity to tell what's the matter with his patient and what to do for him."

Liston P. Evans, editor of the Piscataquis Observer publishes the above with this comment:

"I would not go so far as to say that every one of Dr. Patten's patients died from what is now called appendicitis. When I was in a Bangor hospital for surgical treatment, one of the patients was a University of Maine student, who had been operated on for appendicitis. He told me of being taken sick at a football game and then on the way to his room he had to lie down by the side of the road. He was in such pain.

"His experience was exactly like mine when a boy. Several of my friends walked two miles into the country to attend a party. During the evening I became ill and started for home alone. It was winter and the walking was difficult, and I had such severe pains in my side that I was obliged to lie beside the road until I felt able to go on.

"I got home after a while and my father (who was a physician) treated me for inflammation of the bowels and the trouble never returned. There were many people sick in those days as I was, but many of them got well and I do not doubt but many of Dr. Patten's recovered from a similar trouble, which would now be appendicitis."

COMMON head colds often "settle" in the throat and chest where they may become dangerous. Don't take a chance - at the first sniffle rub on Children's Musterole once every hour for five hours.

Children's Musterole is just good old Musterole, you have known so long, in milder form.

Working like the trained masseur, this famous blend of oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other ingredients brings relief naturally. It penetrates and stimulates blood circulation, helps to draw out infection and pain.

Keep full strength Musterole on hand, for adults and the milder - Children's Musterole for little tots. All druggists.

THINK OF YOUR AUTOMOBILE IN TERMS OF TOMORROW

Ultimate cost is as important as first cost in the purchase of an automobile

When you purchase an automobile you are making an investment of a considerable amount of money. It is essential, therefore, that you give careful thought to the best selection and know what you are getting for your automobile dollars.

The first cost is important because it may mean an immediate, satisfactory saving. Of equal importance is the ultimate cost after thousands of miles of service. This ultimate cost is the true measure of automobile value.

The first cost of the new Ford is unusually low not only because of economies in manufacturing, but because the same principles that inspire these savings are extended to every other step that means greater service to the public. It is easy to see that economies in production would be of little value if they were sacrificed later through high charges for distribution, selling, financing and accessories.

The Ford dealer, therefore, does business on the same low-profit margin as the Ford Motor Company. His discount or commission is twenty-five to fifty per cent lower than that of any other automobile dealer. You gain because he makes a small profit on many sales instead of a large profit on fewer sales.

The difference in selling cost, combined with the low charges for financing and accessories, amounts to at least $50 to $75 on each car. This is as important as economies in production in keeping down the price you pay for the new Ford.

The low ultimate cost of the new Ford is the result of sound design, quality of material and unusual care in manufacturing. Friction and wear are reduced by the accuracy with which each part is made and assembled.

These factors combine to decrease the cost of operation and add months and years to the useful life of the car. The good performance and low yearly depreciation of the new Ford are indicative of the enduring quality built into it at the factory.

SERVICE charges are on the same fair, economical basis as the making and selling of the car and replacement parts are always available at low prices through all Ford dealers. In two, three or five years, depending on how much you drive, the saving in operating and maintaining a new Ford will amount to even more than the saving on the first cost.

Think in terms of tomorrow, therefore, when you purchase an automobile. For tomorrow will reveal its true worth.

Oil thins out quicker in winter—then motors wear out faster

Play safe—refill with Socony today!

Oil thins out quicker in cold weather because the choke is used oftener to give a rich mixture for starting. Every time the choke is used, a small amount of raw, unburned gasoline is sure to find its way into the crankcase. There it mixes with the oil—

Thin oil will not prevent parts from grinding together

Diluted (thinned) oil cannot maintain that protecting film between parts which is so essential to keep them from grinding together. Motors become noisy, wear out quicker. Watch your oil closely in cold weather. Don't let it thin out to the danger point.

A change of oil brings new life to your motor

Perhaps your oil has thinned out so gradually that you have not noticed the noise your motor makes. You will notice the difference at once, as soon as you put in new oil. Your motor will run perceptibly smoother, and the noises— which mean wearing of parts—will quickly quiet down.

Flush your crankcase when you change your oil

There is no way, winter or summer, to avoid a certain amount of dirt, metal particles and carbon finding their way into your crankcase. You don't want them to mix with the new oil, and the only way to get rid of them without taking down the motor is to have your car flushed. Socony Dealers and Service Stations are justifiably proud of the efficient service they render in this respect with Socony Flushing Oil.

Your hard-working winter motor deserves a change of oil

Winter is by no means over. There is still cold weather to come. Get through it safely and comfortably by changing your oil now. Have the old oil drained off—your crankcase flushed—and refill with Socony lubricants. The Socony dealer or Service Station knows exactly which lubricants have the proper body to give you the best lubrication at varying temperatures.

With the motor flushed and fresh oil added, you'll have nothing to worry about—for Socony lubrication is Certified Lubrication.

The days of the small country or small city tailor have passed as far as the designing and making of clothes. Experienced workers are hard for the small tailor to get in the small communities, they prefer the large shop and the city. These large concerns can afford to pay for the best there is.

OPPOSES PROF. JONES' REMARKS

R. L. Cummings of West Paris Gives His Views on Maine's Development

We had our Pomona Grange here at West Paris, March 4, with a full house. The speakers were Prof. Jones of Orono, and Governor Gardiner. Prof. Jones' address was principally on the subject of the advancement and progress made by agriculture of this state. In contradiction to the prevailing idea that agriculture was in a decadent condition. As evidence of this fact he cited comparisons of production and values from 1880. He did not mention that the development of potato production in Aroostook County with the building of the railroads in the eastern part of this state caused that section to become one of the greatest potato producing spots on earth.

This was a new development in new territory, while the older sections that were not so well adapted to great production have declined. Notwithstanding this fact I dispute his findings as not in harmony with the facts when fairly considered. That could not well be prevented. It seems to me that the best way to determine whether we are going ahead or backward is to find out what we are doing now. Take a period over which the development on new territory or railroads have not made great changes. Ten years should be sufficient to show which way even a slow man is moving.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture at Washington says that the value of all crops produced on the farms of Maine in 1929 was $10,162,224; in 1928, $10,152,000; in 1927, $8,653,000; in 1926, $7,707,000; in 1925, the last year available, $54,254,000. You will see by this that unless the federal statistics are all wrong, that the production of farm crops within the last ten years has been reduced nearly one-half. How about the animal production?

The U. S. Department of Agriculture gives the following: animal products, 1925, $32,033,000; 1926, $31,999,000; 1927, $30,931,000. A decrease in value of animal products of a little over $1,000,000, between 1925 and 1928.

I had the pleasure of an introduction to Prof. Jones in the morning and had an interesting conversation with him. I call him an able and intelligent man, and I am sorry to be obliged to disagree with the conclusions that one must draw from his address. If he or anyone else wishes to discuss the subject as to what the real trouble is with agriculture in this state, I will be glad to show my views on that matter and my reasons for the conclusions that I have formed.—R. L. Cummings.

Victoriously Proved

during ESSEX Challenger week

Local tests during Challenger week proved successful on roads of snow and ice. Worst rain storm of the season, Saturday, was no barrier to the new Challenger. A speed of 50 to 60 miles per hour was obtained in 16 seconds from a dead start. Eighteen to twenty miles was the average per gallon gas. Passengers carried during the week, 433. Four wheel brakes not affected by slush and frozen snow.

Prove What Every Essex Can Do

Come take a ride yourself. Know by personal experience what this brilliant New Essex Challenger can do. Its exploits of Challenger Week have swept the country. Essex owners led the demonstration. They were so widely followed and aided by public participation that we are continuing the invitation to Ride—Ride—Ride!

Every locality now knows Essex for the accomplishment of some great feat. Hills seldom attempted in any car were climbed by Essex in high gear. Remarkable economy proofs were established. New acceleration marks were made.

Most important of all—Challenger Week convinced motorists everywhere that Essex represents the greatest dollar for dollar value in car satisfaction that the industry offers. We will gladly give you a personal demonstration of any of these proofs which Essex has established.
